

NONVIOLENCE AND EMPOWERMENT

Conflict Textiles, INNATE & the Hume O'Neill Chair in Peace (Ulster University)

Invite you to a discussion with

RAMIN JAHANBEGLOO

On 28th November at 3.00pm

Ulster Museum (tbc)
Stranmillis Road
Belfast

Ramin is a political philosopher, from Iran, with a special interest in nonviolence. He has written numerous books and articles, the most recent being 'Thinking Nonviolence: Struggle and Resistance'. The Ulster Museum's current exhibition, 'Threads of Empowerment', displays many textiles which are testimonies to empowerment through non-violent resistance, as well as being forms of resistance and empowerment themselves. Ramin will discuss the relationship between non-violence and empowerment, especially in the current challenging environment

For more information contact b.hamber@ulster.ac.uk

To register: <https://tinyurl.com/raminnonviolence>

